SUBJECT: Democratic Socialists of America/Remand

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

NY 100-

Mr. HARRINGTON, in his main speech, stated that he wanted to make the "political statement" that, "What we are doing here today is building the 70's left." We must go to where the "mass left" is and that is the liberal wing of the Democratic Party. The new socialist organization must place socialists in every sector of the Democratic Party in efforts to influence that Party. HARRINGTON that "time is on our side" as such experts as PATRICK MOYNIHAN, current Ambassador to India and former professor at Harvard University has stated that "capitalism has only 50 years to go." The new socialist organization does not seek a large number of members although some recruitment will be done on the campuses from among former civil rights and anti-war activists. HARRINGTON used the phrase the socialists "must come out of the closet" and make themselves known as socialists and must work within the "liberal" wing of the Democratic Party.

DAVID LEWIS, in his speech, emphasized that the new socialist organization should not be interested in large numbers of adherents. He stated that what we seek is not a large cadre but the confidence of the people. This confidence can be realized through active support of such popular measures as tax reform and the Kennedy-Griffin National Health bill. LEWIS pointed out that the goal of the organization in its support of tax reform should be a massive redistribution of wealth and from the National Health Bill the goal should be nationalized medicine.
